Product range

FNPC can provide a full range of traditional cut sheep and goat meat products. In addition to this, the company is constantly developing new and innovative value added products for the hotel and restaurant industries as well as looking for innovative distributors to work on our behalf in other countries around the globe.

The Saltbush not only produces a distinctive flavour but also is a leaner and more robust tasting flavour.

The key to successful cooking is to minimize the use of traditional herbs and spices to let the true taste of the Saltbush shine through.

Our Saltbush sheep products are predominantly from the Dorper breed of sheep which are bred specifically for pastoral country and for shedding their wool.

This means that no shearing, crutching or mulesing is required, minimizing the effect of chemical usage in the growing of the animals.

Furthermore, the Saltbush Chevon (goat meat) is a true free-range naturally occurring product in this area with a full complement of products available on enquiry.

The meat is highly sought after in many countries as a lean alternative to other red meats.

Both Saltbush sheep meat and Chevon goat products are available in a range of traditional cuts and value added products.

For any specific requirements contact FRNC direct and we look forward to accommodating your needs.
